

We build what you want

Julian and Christine West are the owners of the specialist building company Homeshield, located at Wavell Heights. This friendly, family-owned and operated company understands the needs of home owners and has a policy which states "We build what you want". Homeshield offer an extensive range of patios, decks and home improvement products, priced to suit all budgets, and is known for its ability to custom design and build functional outdoor areas

Julian and Christine West

Julian has been building and designing patios and decks for ten years. His previous trade experience was in structural steel as a boilermaker. His experience and knowledge of the industry has assisted many homeowners with building their dream outdoor living area. For Julian, design is everything. The first step in creating your new outdoor area is to come up with a great design. Secondly, choose the products that complement the design and that suit the budget.

Being a family-owned business, you will have confidence in knowing that you are speaking directly to the person responsible for your project from start to finish. Unlike their competitors, Homeshield don't have commissioned salesmen - they are licensed builders that specialise in outdoor areas. Their independence enables them to offer an extensive range of high quality and proven products – something they pride themselves on.

Homeshield takes the hassle out of the building process as they organise drafting and council approvals. If you have a design or just need some advice, pop into their display centre or phone Christine who is always happy to assist you with the wide range of products available.

Homeshield offers an obligation-free design consultation at a time convenient to you, where Julian will hand sketch your designs and bring them to life!

Homeshield's display centre is open Monday to Friday, from 9am to 3pm, on the Corner of Goss & Bilsen Roads, Wavell Heights. Alternatively call anytime on 3266 2890.
